GILLAKASTER

Best Practice Service - Stay ahead

Experience shows that a quick phone call when a problem arises could save hours of time and expense if, later, you find yourself in an employment tribunal or with a resignation on your hands.

Too often, concern about cost means employers do not take advice until it is too late. Best Practice offers outstanding unlimited support at a fixed monthly price, including insurance back up to cover an employment tribunal claim. If you take advice when you need it, the costs and even any compensation of a tribunal claim will be covered.

It includes a comprehensive review of your contracts of employment and staff handbook to make sure they are legally compliant and training is available for you too.

And unlimited advice – by phone, email, letter or however you prefer, is all part of the package.

So, you can at last have complete peace of mind that all angles are covered.
